Construction Project Has Started!

We entered into a Contract this week with Jeremy Salamacha of Los Osos for completion of 'the Long Room' and adjacent facilities. If his name seems familiar, his mother writes a column in the SLO Tribune. Early work has included a major lumber delivery, and initial rough carpentry, mostly hanging the new ceilings and getting the various new walls and doorways prepared. It is important NOT to let your curiosity get the best of you- please refrain from entering any of the areas with signs posted, as this is an active construction site with temporary scaffolding and loose materials, and a liability issue. For all construction related questions, please email or call Maria Kelly. Plan on construction activities M-F and maybe some Saturdays from 8AM to 5PM. For conflicting events, please make sure they are calendared and every effort will be made to accommodate our non-construction related needs.

SLO Deanery will meet today from 2-4 p.m. at St. Peter's, Morro Bay

This meeting will consist of a presentation by The Rev'd Canon Timothy M. Dombek, who serves as Canon to the Ordinary in the Diocese of Arizona. His areas of responsibility include transition ministry for congregations and clergy, congregational development, and stewardship education. Dombek has regularly presented "Stewardship University," a one-day workshop designed to change the way we look at typical congregational stewardship, across the Diocese of Arizona and in Episcopal dioceses church wide. Many congregations and organizations have used his services to jumpstart or clarify their future plans. Refreshments will be provided. All are welcome!

Second Sunday in Lent—Year C

Welcome to our parish. Today the liturgy gives us the account of the covenant between God and the first person of faith: Abraham. There are two parts to this covenant: God's promise and Abraham's faith. Abraham's faith becomes the model for us who have been brought into covenant with God in baptism.

The Gospel reading today tells of Jesus being warned that he is in danger of being killed. He responds by again foretelling his own death and resurrection, the three days in which he will complete his work. Jesus then laments his rejection by the leaders in Jerusalem because he wishes fervently that no one be lost and that he may gather everyone to himself.

The second reading today is concerned with contrasting those who do not live within the covenant and those who do. It reminds us that the self-denial and fasting of Lent are not ends in themselves and certainly are not meant to imply that pleasure is wrong. They lead us on toward the discovery that true joy and pleasure always come from God and always point us to the resurrection of our earthly life and desires, which is God's ultimate aim for us.

As we draw nearer to Easter and the renewal of our baptismal commitment, and as we pray for those who will be baptized then, the liturgy of Lent takes us ever deeper into the mystery of our redemption. Faith and repentance are our response to the redemption that began to be worked out in Abraham's day, was fulfilled in Jesus' dying and rising, and is renewed in us in baptism and Eucharist.

Body Prayer, part 2: Bowing

We bow to each other or to God in order to show our reverence. Common times to bow are:

- Whenever Jesus Christ is mentioned (because "at the Name of Jesus every knee shall bow")
- When we cross in front of the altar
- When the Gloria Patri is said, "Glory to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit"
- During the Sanctus
- When the Processional Cross or the Gospel Book passes us
- At the end of the Communion circle

SOUP FOR SYRIA - March 12 7pm at St. Benedict's

Here's a different Lenten soup supper - a way to have fun, eat some great soup, and support Syrian refugees. Together with Volumes of Pleasure bookstore, we are sponsoring a soup tasting of Soups from Syria taken from the book of the same name. We'll watch some videos telling stories of Syrian refugees, eat soup and have the opportunity to buy the book and to make donations to Syrian relief work. Please plan to come and bring your neighbors - and ask Pam Bleish how you can help by making soup or helping to host the evening.
